

Stop dreaming and you will have a hard time falling asleep!

20 years of ambitious and pioneering polar expeditions combined with a scientific mission have put Dixie Dansercoer in the world top 5. Recently he has become a master guide, accredited by the International Polar Guides Association. Julie Brown has run the back-office and managed the supporting team comprising 120 international co-workers, volunteers and hi-tech professionals. Together they have written 22 books and produced 5 documentary films, but most of all they have awakened personal dreams in people of all walks of life. They have developed the art of generating and delivering the spark for passionate enthusiasm.

PARTICIPANT COMMENT

„Dear Dixie, I wanted to thank you again for your inspiring presentation during our convention. Your PASSION TO PERFORM really guided us on our way towards a fruitful day. The harmonious flow of incredibly unique polar imagery and your memorable strong words will stay with us for a long time. It is your vision on life, your inner and mental force, perseverance, preparation, the enormous physical challenges that made us look inward and those qualities served us as a true example to accept the many changes in our own environment and strive for personal performance. We have started our own YEAR OF PERFORMANCE in style!“
