

Making Change Happen

Think it. Do it. Change it. That's the mantra of Global TopSpeaker Ilja Grzeskowitz. The graduated change expert started his career as Germany's youngest store manager and was in charge of ten department stores for Karstadt, Wertheim, Hertie and IKEA. He is a bestselling author of six books and had guest lecturing positions at the SRH University in Berlin and the Berlin School of Law and Economics. As an innovation scout, Ilja constantly travels the world in order to discover future trends. In...

PARTICIPANT COMMENT

"„Best in class“ – is the only way to express the excellence of Ilja's presentation and how well he shared his passion for change during our 2019 Kick Off Conference. With his down-to-earth style and presence he reached the hearts and minds of the members of our diverse multi-cultural organization to see change as an opportunity. "Oh Yeah" was authentic, inspirational and memorable. It was easy to understand and follow his positive, energetic, very professional and also entertaining speech. I loved to see how the drama of "CHANGE" transformed to something positive. Everyone in the organization was inspired to take ownership of the change process, allowing change to make way for a better life and a brighter future. Thanks to Ilja, we were introduced to 4 easy steps which outlined what it takes to be the driver of the change we want to implement. I am very sure that by scheduling Ilja's speech right at the beginning of our conference, we were able to set the tone of our theme "Take what's ours" and the change needed to win in a positive light. This paved the way for one of the best Kick-off conferences we have held for our Global Salon Business Organization and ignited the positive mindset for the way we will experience change in the future - not only in business but also in our private lives. The positive feedback was overwhelming."
